Get ready for Spring

Now we are officially into 2022, we are now ready to launch the 2nd Edition of our joint KiwiKit Roxan catalogue.

There has been no shortage of fresh challenges with supply or logistic issues not to mention rising costs on feed and fertilizers. At KiwiKit Roxan we have been doing our best to support you by absorbing as many price increases as we can and managing our supply lines.

With turning out around the corner, now might be a good time to take advantage of the experience and know-how of our team of advisors who understand low-cost production farming methods and other labour-saving products in our range. We can advise on improvements in pasture growth, pasture utilization and grazing management techniques using electric fencing and high yield grass seed for example.

As we bring new life into the world this spring, we have an excellent selection of Sheep and Cattle tags, which are covered under our free replacement scheme. Our unique automatic applicator for our TagFaster range only needs to be loaded once for 20 slaughter tags or 10 pre-paired breeding twins, saving you time and money as well! Even better we do not charge any extra for management or pedigree print!

Already a happy tag customer and willing to spread the word? - go to the back of the catalogue and take advantage of our loyalty and referral rewards.

Got a spring in your step? Now is also a great time to look at our extensive range of clothing and boots. Our "built to work and made to last" Kaiwaka clothing range just keeps growing and we are busy adding new Trekz Kids products and a complete new range of Workmate workwear to keep you safe.

Our new range of Aussie Born and Bred Mongrel boots also arrived last year and are selling fast. Look out for another exciting new arrival, the award winning Simcro VS injector for cattle, sheep or pigs from our Simcro R&D team based in NZ.

All the team are passionate about what they do and are committed to giving honest advice and excellent service. If you need any help feel free to contact your local representative on page two & three or keep an eye on our Social Media pages for all the shows, we will be attending throughout 2022.

Commercial General Manager UK & ROI

GB EXPORTS

If you have any questions, or want to find out how Roxan and KiwiKit can help get your tags ready for exporting, get in touch!

HEATHER MCCARTNEY
07495 112 913

Scotland/
North England

A word from Heather, our Scottish Roxan tag expert...

Slight tagging changes when exporting or moving livestock to the EU or Northern Ireland are now required.

The UK currently uses the identifier 'UK' in accordance with EU rules for Member States. Now in addition to displaying 'UK' we will also need to use a two-letter ISO country code which is 'GB'

Where sheep are already double tagged

You should apply an additional (management) tag which displays 'GB' and the animal's existing individual ID number. This tag should not be red or yellow.

Where sheep are newly identified OR are lambs identified with a single EID slaughter tag that are to be exported to the EU

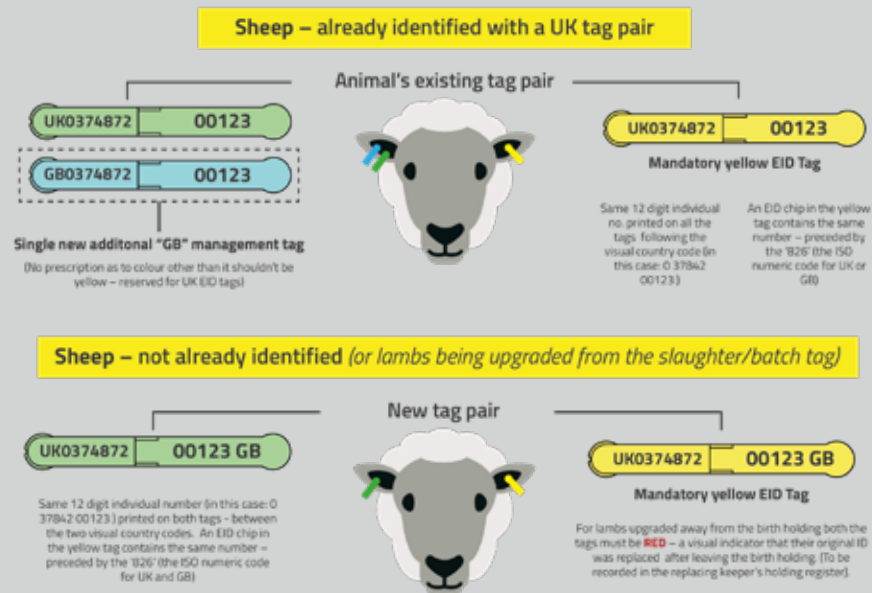

You can apply a pair of UK tags (one of which must be electronic) which also display a GB suffix. These animals will not need an additional management tag given these tags contain the visual GB code.

You should confirm with the importer that your exported animals are identified by an acceptable method.

A replacement tag pair displaying the 'GB' suffix can also be applied where animals not intended for export which have already been identified with a UK tag pair have lost one or both of those tags. If the replacement pair is applied off the holding of birth that pair must be red tags.

For slaughter lambs because the new tags replace an existing identifier, they should both be red tags. Exports and movements of livestock to the EU and Northern Ireland from Scotland and Wales from 2021 will be identified in the same way as those from England.

Livestock can continue to move from Northern Ireland to Great Britain using their UK tags. For any exports from Northern Ireland to the EU, you will need to contact DAERA. You should confirm with the importer that your exported animals are identified by an acceptable method.

Champion Zwartble breeder gives TagFaster his approval

Ally Baird, Perthshire

Builder Ally Baird admits to being a bit of a perfectionist and since he first got his eye on Zwartble sheep he has applied these principles to establishing his flock.

Ally's first introduction to farming was helping out with the flock run by his wife Moyra's father near Dunblane in Perthshire.

"I am a builder first and foremost," said Ally, who established his business Ally Baird Building and Roofing Services 14 years ago which he runs from Greystone Cottage, Dunblane.

"My father in law Miller McLaren was running 350 white sheep which Moyra and I were helping out with. I first got my eye on Zwartbles at a show and liked the breed," said Ally. His love of livestock is probably in the genes as his grandfather was a farmer.

These Tags are small which I prefer because a large tag detracts from the sheep, particularly if it is a pedigree show sheep. The tags are simple and easy to use. Importantly, the retention is very good.

Do you COC your TagFaster Applicator?

The TagFaster is like the machine gun of tagging sheep, it really does help you 'TagFaster' – but in order for it to help you, you must care for it!!!

We always recommend, before storing the applicator away for a few months between tagging sessions that you 'COC' your applicator:

CLEAN the tagger in warm soapy liquid to rid of any dirt.

OIL the tagger with vegetable oil, never use WD40 or any other lubricants.

CHECK the tagger, make sure the green pecker underneath the orange horn is correctly lined to feed the next batch of tags.

ALPHALINE REDUCES WORKLOAD FOR RICHARDSON FAMILY

Ilan Richardson & Family, Upper Samieston

Scottish Borders livestock farmers Ian Richardson and his father David have gradually been building up numbers in their specialist beef unit with a target of 500 suckler cows.

They farm 1,650 acres at Upper Samieston, near Jedburgh where they run 440 suckler cows alongside almost 1,000 breeding sheep and 250 arable acres which they manage with one other man and Ian's wife Georgina when she is needed.

The aim is to sell most of their calves store at six to seven months old off their dams to maximise profitability. The ideal is to sell as many as possible in October.

They are using Charolais, Aberdeen Angus, Limousin, British Blue and Simmental bulls, using the Angus, Blues and some Limousins for breeding replacements and putting the Charolais and Limousins bulls onto them.

"We use large primary tags and the secondary tag is a small button. The colour coded tag is blank and the colour matches the sire with the mothers management tag written on by me using the No Fade Ink Marker. We can easily identify the calf's dam and sire," he added.

Previously, we would have had to replace up to 30 tags out of the 160 calves. Last October we only had to replace one. It reduces our workload if we don't have to single out calves to replace their ear tags.

TRANSPONDER TYPES

EID ear tags are also known as RFID (Radio frequency Identification Tags) Each tag has a watertight sealed unit which contains an electronic chip/transponder which is programmed with a unique tag number. The information in the transponder can be read with a handheld or static panel reader. EID/RFID tags are suitable for both dairy and beef herds and are DEFRA approved tags. They come in HDX (half duplex) and FDX-B (full duplex) formats.

HDX – Half duplex tags talk to the reader like a 2-way radio/walkie talkie. The Reader sends out a signal and the tag replies. HDX is the most popular choice with dairy farmers and with those who have older metal crushes.

FDX-B – Full duplex is where the information goes back and forth like a mobile phone signal. FDX is often more suited to non-dairy environments.

PEL ELECTRIC FENCING

THE PEL RANGE

KiwiKit is committed to providing our customers with reliable, cost-effective products. The Pel range offers this with the added benefits of excellent back-up and after-sales service.

TEMPORARY ELECTRIC FENCING

STRIP & ROTATIONAL GRAZING

Strip grazing for controlled rotational grazing is an excellent method to improve pasture utilisation. For best early re-growth of pasture, back-fencing of areas already grazed is recommended. Generally, temporary fences are moved daily. The distance moved depends on the number of animals being grazed and the quality and quantity of pasture available. These products are recommended to ensure top performance of your temporary electric fence system.

POWERING YOUR LAND

An electric fence is a psychological barrier rather than a physical barrier.

BENEFITS OF ELECTRIC FENCING:

- Cost effective, requiring less labour and materials than conventional fencing
- Easy to construct with the right materials
- Increase productivity of pasture by making it easier to subdivide areas and introduce high levels of utilisation
- Permanent electric fencing remains undamaged as stock don't lean over it
- Environmentally friendly, its quick and easy to fence off waterways etc

WHAT TYPE OF FENCE DO YOU NEED?

- Permanent Fence Expected life of 20 - 40 years.
- Some fencing knowledge and special tools are required.
- Will control all livestock, distance unlimited.

TEMPORARY FENCE

Lightweight, short term and easy to construct. Generally shorter distances - up to 10KM. There are a number of considerations when constructing an electric fence grazing system.

An electric fence should not be constructed of a series of closed loops or circuits. The only circuit on an electric fence should be when the animal touches the fence and the KV travels through the animals and relinks to the earth, therefore completing the circuit.

PHIL'S TOP TIPS:

- The fence should always have termination points to avoid the loops.
- Always use 2.5 HT Wire to carry the power as this is highly conductive. Plus using 2.5 Leadout Cable under gateways.
- Place posts 10m apart on tracks and 15m apart on fence lines.
- Install the energiser in a good location that is easily visible, and away from the dairy. Preferably, construct a proper earth field, again away from any other earth field in a damp location. This provides a low resistance path for the KV to return to the energisers earth terminal.
- The number of earth bars will be determined by the size of the energiser. The higher the utilisation of your cheapest feed the more money is left on the bottom line.

GRASS SEED

ABER HIGH SUGAR GRASS

Aber High Sugar Grass varieties (Aber HSG) have been developed over several decades of focused research, field trials and animal performance testing at IBERS Aberystwyth University. Since the outset, this programme has recognised the significant benefits of breeding perennial and hybrid ryegrasses that combine outstanding dry matter yield with the highest quality (D-value). The resulting range of Aber HSG varieties now lead their respective categories in both the Recommended Grass and Clover List and the Irish Pasture Profit Index, giving British and Irish livestock farmers the best opportunity to maximise production from forage.

IBERS' revolutionary plant breeding has been funded for over 30 years by Germinal, giving the company exclusive worldwide marketing rights to all Aber HSG varieties. This has allowed Germinal to develop a full range of 100% Aber HSG grazing and conservation mixtures, which are utilised by progressive dairy, beef and sheep farmers throughout the UK and as far afield as New Zealand.

KIWIKIT & ORINGI CLOTHING CARE INSTRUCTIONS

ORINGI & KIWIKIT CLOTHING CARE INSTRUCTIONS

Never store your Kiwikit Flexothane garment when wet. Always hang up (but not by its hood if it's a jacket) in a well ventilated area to dry after use.

All Oringi/Kiwikit Flexothane garments are machine washable. To extend the life of your garment we recommend you wash them regularly.

Zips! Our jackets and bodywarmers are generous in length. Please release the bottom of the two way zip on jackets and bodywarmers when sitting on quad bikes or climbing fences to increase the lifetime of the garment and zip.

Your garment will last longer if washed regularly.

- Shake out loose dirt
- Empty all pockets of sharp metal objects
- Close the garment (zippers etc)
- If the garment is extremely dirty, soak for a short time first.
- Avoid rubbing the garment as the abrasive effect of some soils can damage the waterproof-ness of the outer PU coating.
- Recommended washing temperature 40 C. Use plenty of water/high cycle. Use powder based washing products, PH 7-9 e.g. Persil, Bold, Daz etc. Not biological.
- Do not use bleach!
- Do not spin! Simply turn the garment inside out and allow to drip dry.

Special Note: For persons using Calcined Magnesite or similar products, we highly recommend the KiwiKit Oringi Flexothane garment be machine washed very frequently to remove product residue.

Our triple-layer, high performance Weathershield Hoodie jackets are built to take whatever the weather brings. They are water resistant, windproof, lightweight, breathable and flexible. In other words, they are the ultimate protective-but-comfortable camo overtops for a day of working or adventure.

The secret behind the success of the weathershield camo hoodie's is the amazing triple-layer fabric we use. It's like a microfleece sandwich: a top layer of advanced microfleece is backed with a PU windproof layer, which is bonded to an internal layer of microfleece.

This triple-layer fabric gives you four benefits:

- Windproof and water-resistant: PU middle layer resists water and won't let the wind through.
- Stretchable: Four-way stretch ensures the garment moves with you.
- Breathable: Even when it's resisting wind and rain, the three-layer fabric still allows internal moisture to get out.
- Lightweight: Lighter than the average wilderness hoodie.

To extend the life of the garment and for best performance, use a small amount of non-scented LIQUID detergent. DO NOT use powder detergents, fabric softener or chlorine bleach. Powder detergents include artificial scents, UV brighteners and abrasives that will reduce the life of the garment.

Care after every use: Clean or wipe down any dirt, blood, sweat. Ensure your rainwear layer is fully DRY before you store it away. Ensure that the environment where you store your garments is in a dry damp-free place. Ensure rainwear items are hanging up and not stored in a bag or screwed up in a heap.

Durable Water Repellency (DWR): If you notice that the water is not beading off the outer surface it's time to replenish the DWR. Wash your jacket through a standard wash cycle (use liquid detergent), then you can wash it again using an in-wash DWR replenisher (at 30°C) OR a spray on DWR replenisher. Air dry the garment – do not tumble dry.

KIWISOOTHE UDDER CARE

Healthy udders means no mastitis, no oedema and low somatic cell count and that translates to higher yields and no discarded milk. Softens and soothes hard quarters and tender udders after calving for healthy udders.

Kiwisoothe Udder Care is a care product for udders with essential oils and natural ingredients as main ingredients. This unique composition soothes and softens udders. The spray is easy to use in the milking parlour, in the calving pen and in the barn. Spraying each quarter three times with Kiwisoothe Udder Care is easy and quick to do.

"We have been using Kiwisoothe for the last 8 years on our organic herd plus all the freshly calved heifers, it helps enormously with milk let down and takes the oedema out of the udders. The blue Kiwisoothe helps with milking protocols in a 50:100 parlour, the cows calve in two blocks and we have it available for them at all times"

- Richard Tomlinson, Rossett

"We have been using KiwiSoothe for 6 years now, it was initially used on freshly calved heifers but these days we use it on all suspected cases of mastitis and inflamed quarters. The dye highlights animals under treatment and ensures that treatment continues until the quarter has cleared up. The spray on-bottle is very handy to apply too!"

HOW THE PEACH TEAT WORKS

1. Valve never closes in its relaxed state so cannot be blocked.
2. Milk opening on either side of the nipple.

The Peach Teat allows no more fluid to pass through it than a cow's udder naturally would, allowing the calf to suckle more intensely than conventional technology. This stimulates the flow of saliva and improves the PH-level in the stomach and leads to better digestion!

TEATS

STALLION SMART COW TEAT

KIWIKIT: SCTT
ROXAN: 880 0005-315

The Smart Cow Teat and Cap from Stallion is designed to fit all Stallion feeders. Fitted with a removable valve, the Stallion Smart Cow Teat has been designed for calves from 1-6 weeks and can be used with or without the valve.

The Smart Cow teat with the valve is ideal for calves 1-6 weeks as it helps the calves drink milk. When calves are older that 6 weeks, simply remove the valve as the calves have to suck harder, helping to further stimulate the saliva for better rumen development.

BIG SOFTY TEATS - FIT MILK BAR FEEDERS

KIWIKIT: 213696

With gravity feeders (where the milk level is higher than the teat), two issues arise. First is preventing leakage through the teat, and second is whilst preventing leakage still enabling the calf to suckle freely. The Big Softy achieves both these.

- Teat tip opens freely as soon as the calf begins suckling.
- Fits all feeders with standard 22mm (+/-1mm) teat holes.
- Equally suitable for hand-held bottle feeding.

AS-MIX ELECTROLYTE

KIWIKIT: AS-MIX

- Low cost highly effective electrolyte for prevention and treatment of scouring calves.
- A unique blend of electrolytes, easily digestible carbohydrates, natural fibres and pectin.
- Can be fed by itself or in conjunction with fresh milk or milk replacer. 2.5kg Tubs.
- Dosage for approx 50kg Calf : 50grms / half scoop

PRICE: £56.50

"The best thing about AS-Mix is its versatility; it can be mixed with milk or water, but also can be used at half rate for a group of calves slightly under the weather but not yet scouring and it mixes easily in large volumes."

- Nick Hughes, Caercoed, Carmarthenshire

"We started using Asmix a couple of years ago on a recommendation by another farmer. The calves that require a little TLC are given it once they start scouring, and they bounce back within 24hrs. We give it as a replacement to milk for those feedings and the calf usually responds better. We also found that it was far more cost effective than other remedies previously used"

Keep your skin happy, healthy and hydrated.

When working out in all weathers our skin needs additional support to help stay healthy and hydrated. We have two distinct ranges, the Alpine Silk Manuka Honey range, and the Merino Lanolin range. Lanolin is an oil extracted from wool, refined, and used in the Merino products.

The natural oil in sheep's wool is an exceptional moisturiser which soothes skin cells and provides a protective barrier against the elements. Manuka Honey has long been used for medicinal and therapeutic purposes due to its antioxidant and powerful antibacterial properties. It contains Internationally Certified UMF Manuka Honey. When applied to skin, manuka honey locks that moisture in, retaining it for longer periods.

These products are exceptionally good value and very high quality.
